Hello everyone! Thank you for your patience and understanding as we try to figure out the best way to get our communications out to you.

Our monthly (or sometimes every other month) advice meetings are still taking place. These are informal meetings where we discuss issues that we are facing as nursing and allied health librarians. The next one will be Thursday, February 27th at 2pm EST. Here is the Zoom link if you'd like to attend: NAHRS February 27 monthly advice meeting. We'd love to see you!

We are excited to announce that we will be having a panel discussion Wednesday, March 5th at 2pm EST. Several NAHRS members, along with nursing faculty they work with, will be discussing their collaborations. Zoom link details will be provided closer to the session.

A goal for this year was to offer more programming, either in collaboration with another caucus or on our own. Some ideas that have been offered up during our monthly advice meetings have been 1) how are we using LibGuides, 2) AI, 3) search clinics, or 4) sharing our research interests, and 5) our involvement in helping other people with their writing. If you have any programming ideas, I would love to hear them.

Thank you again for your continued support and participation! I'm looking forward to our upcoming panel discussion. I encourage you to reach out to me at hargwood@rutgers.edu with your thoughts and ideas for our caucus.

Best,

Pam

Call for Submissions!

We hope you have enjoyed reading about your colleagues in our NAHRS Member Profile column. Our goal is to share the wealth of information and diversity of our members. We would love to feature YOU for a future issue! Please contact Lisa Huang (Lisa.Huang@va.gov) if you are interested in being featured for the next Member Profile.

In our Toolkit - A column for Resources New and Cool

This column highlights useful, cool, or new resources including websites, monographs, OA sources, subscription resources/databases, etc. that NAHRS members find helpful to their work.

Tool: Consensus (<https://consensus.app>)

Recommended for: Anyone who wants quick answers to life's questions that are supported by scholarly articles

In a Nutshell: Marketed as an "AI Search Engine for Research", Consensus promises to help you "find and understand the best science, faster." Simply enter questions that can be answered in a yes/no format or ask the relationship between two concepts, and Consensus will sift through over 500 journals, university presses, and scholarly society websites to answer your questions without hallucinating results or citing imaginary sources.

Consensus uses large language models, Vector search technology, citation count, velocity of citations, study design, publication date, and other factors to predict the most relevant results and summarize the findings of the top 10 papers in one sentence. Depending on the type of question you ask, Consensus can also extract key data from the articles and show you how many of those papers agree on their findings with the Consensus meter. Consensus can generate credible sources for literature reviews for novice and expert researchers alike.

The free version of Consensus includes unlimited searches, research quality indicators, AI-powered filters, but you may want to subscribe to Consensus Premium for unlimited access to ChatGPT-4 summaries, the Consensus meter, study snapshots, and the Copilot AI assistant, which can greatly expedite the process of understanding, implementing, and sharing your findings. Students are eligible for a significant discount on Consensus.

NAHRS Member Spotlight: Anne L Snieg, MLIS

NAHRS MLA Member Since: 2023

First Professional Position: School Librarian, K-8, St. Anthony's School, Milwaukee, WI

Current Position: Medical Librarian, Milwaukee VA [Veterans Affairs] Health Care System

- Manage a patient health library for veterans and family members
- Literature Searches for clinical staff, nursing, and leadership needs
- Select and purchase local resources, both print and online, to support mission – for staff and patients
- Manage computers and physical resources for library patrons

Education:

- BA, Elementary Education, Minor, Special Education, Special Emphasis, Cultural Anthropology – Pacific Lutheran University, Tacoma, WA
- MLIS, Information Organization certificate – University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Favorite Website, Blog, or Streaming Service:

IMDB – I love movies and this allows me to geek out with as much information at my fingertips as possible for every movie, tv show, actor and actress I choose to inquire about.

Involvement in MLA or library organizations: Just getting started, but receive information about the Veterans Caucus, Federal Library Caucus, and, of course, NAHRS. Plus, I have been able to attend 3 of the last 4 MLA conferences. While 2021 and 2022 were online for me, 2023 was in person to present a poster – best experience. I look forward to 2025.

I became a librarian/informationist because: Multiple hints over many years (over 10 years), but a friend from college was talking about her internship in a library and I never really forgot how much I enjoyed her enthusiasm and her belief that it would be a good fit for me as well. Plus, I used to hang out in our college library finding things and exploring whatever struck my fancy. As for the medical librarian portion, my mom was an ICU CCRN and my sister followed in her footsteps. Never felt right for me, but I felt comfortable looking for a way to support the kind of work they did with quality information.

Issues that I see are big for NAHRS members in the profession are: Quality information that is accessible to nursing staff and allied health. Finding the resources that will help them do better and providing the personal touch of education and availability to support their mission.

My bucket list includes: Scotland – the Moors, castles, and Edinburgh – I read a lot of books that took place there over the years. Also, Ireland and Cornwall, and Prince Edward Island (Anne of Green Gables).

My favorite holiday is July 4th because it is a family holiday for us. My husband's parents, especially his mom, were involved in creating neighborhood park celebrations in the late 1960's around their large city. She was so involved that she continued to volunteer until she was 79 and passed away the next year early that July 4th, in 2006.

If I could have dinner with 4 people in the world (living or dead): Desmond Tutu, Dali Lama, L.M. Montgomery, Tom Hanks.

Anne L. Snieg, MLIS—Pre-COVID

In my spare time, I like to: Walk, watch movies, do origami, read weird articles about lichen.

Weirdest question/request I've had as a librarian or informationist: to find the festschrift of a German neurologist who died in the 1920's.

Other item(s) you would like us to know: I have enjoyed living in a wide variety of states over my adult life, but no matter where I live, Montana is always home. As for nursing, I know what perseverance, quality information, and strength in caring can do for a hospital system. My mom's hospital was recognized in 2013 as the safest hospital at their size. When I asked her about it, she remembered the retreat weekend where that ball got rolling more than 20 years beforehand.
